

Marilyn Kinsella
alias "Taleypo"

Quote from an interview with Marilyn in the May, 2002 issue of Woman's Day Magazine,

"I love finding a story that wants to be told and helping it come alive."

Marilyn is a storyteller from the small Southern Illinois city of Fairview Heights..

Whether telling formal stories or folktales, Marilyn will weave yarns that are sure to entertain you, frighten or surprise you, but in the end will surely make you smile.

Her style is animated and filled with verbal imagery. Comfortable with any age group, Marilyn travels to festivals, special events, libraries, workshops and schools.

A veteran wordsmith, she has been a member of the Riverwind Storytellers since they originated in 1982.
