You make your way to the prearranged place, an old building. You have heard that Mark has recently arrived in Rome. You hope the rumor is true. It is a dangerous time and persecutions of Christians are whispered daily. Today you risk your life to hear this man tell his story. You heard a rumor that he has brought along his scroll called "The Gospel According to Mark."

Is Mark really in town? Is this just a trap? It's both exciting and terrifying. In spite of the
